

New Post Office and Union Station, Washington, D. C.

July 20 - is lovely - I see our
 A view is here shown of the New Post Office, Washington, D. C., which adjoins the Union Station. It is built of white granite, covers an area of 100,000 square feet, and in design is an adaption of Roman Architecture. The Union Station was built by the U. S. Government, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The cost of the last building and terminal improvements was $18,000,000. It is built of white granite, is 760 feet in length, 343 feet in width, and is one of the notable railway stations of the world.

Post Card

ADDRESS

Club has a magazine called "the Cooking Club" - some clever??
 I am right opposite the library & can see the Capitol - an ideal location - do write dear.
 110 E. Capitol St. N.E., Wash D.C. will be here two weeks longer.
 Lecture may come down to us.
 I hope so - Affly Helen

Miss M. Carey
 The Boulevard
 Passaic
 N. J.
 H. Bloomfield.

Plate 3402